The Importance of Social Media in English Language Learning & Teaching:

- ▶ Source of information, language texts, and vocabularies: The participants indicated that social media are great sources of up-to-date, relevant information such as news, blogs, wikis, and a lot more that are written in English.
 - ▶ “Social media are an all-available and all-free information source for language learning .There is no need to hire an English tutor or go to expensive English academies.”
 - ▶ The exposure that social media provide with English language learners comes in an environment where these users are enjoying, learning, and picking up the language in a more natural way.

- ▶ Exposure to communication, connection and interaction: Since most of students grew up with these kinds of technology, it seemed innate in them to have an adeptness in using them. Whether they are sending e-mails, posting on Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram, or they are playing online games, they get a chance to practice using the English language and share information to other people .
 - “They can communicate with different people to enhance English language.”
 - “English language learners improve communication skills through social media interaction in a wide basis.”
 - “Exposure to the target language since learners are often online or checking their accounts.”

- ▶ This serious, professional social networking should not be ignored by individuals.
- ▶ LinkedIn works best when you use it as a career management tool and not just for job hunting.
- ▶ LinkedIn offers a variety of ways to expand your network by finding and connecting with relevant professionals in your industry. The key is to find, approach and connect with folks you already know, folks you'd like to know and folks you should know. You should also post your own content, showing off your expertise on a regular basis.
- ▶ When you're looking for a new job, numbers matter, so take time to build your network. But be sure to do it in a smart way,

- ▶ According to Jerome Bruner, the learner is active, constructive, collective, goal-oriented, investigative, and thoughtful. Learning is student-centered and learners construct knowledge through their own investigations. A good learner must take the initiative for self-testing and is constantly checking her/his progress to make sure that learning goals and objectives are met successfully.
- ▶ Facebook as a method of teaching English as a foreign language in the classroom should have positive effects on students' comprehension skills. It helps learners by introducing multimedia and pictures and narrating words with sound for better visualization.
- ▶ As such, when students are fully engaged in reading the materials posted on Facebook, they would make every effort to understand what they read. Learners who utilize Facebook increase their comprehension skills.
- ▶ Facebook provides an environment that is conducive to the learning of the English language. It increases learner's critical thinking skills significantly.
